SAYS HE UNDERSTANDS THE LITTLE WARRIOR RIVER DOES NOT DEVELOP SUFFICIENT WATER POWER.

Major W. S. Winn, who is in charge of the government work now being done at Muscle Shoals, spent a short time in Decatur today, meeting Major Little Brown, of Nashville, chief government engineer of this division, for an inspection of the Shoals.

Major Winn and party came up the river on the "Lookout" and will escort Major Brown back on the boat. A inspection will be made of all the work done by the government in preparation for the selection of the Tennessee river as the site for the $20,000,000 nitrate plant.

The distinguished visitor, while here, took occasion to say a word about the Warrior river proposition, recently agitated by a Birmingham newspaper. He declared he had been informed that the Warrior did not generate nearly so large amount of power as the government must have for the big nitrate plant, but added that the South Alabama stream might "come in handy for a site for an auxiliary plant during high water."

Major Winn Optimistic.

Major Winn was very optimistic regarding the prospects for the selection of Muscle Shoals.

Hoboken, Feb. 14.—With a courtesy and marked attention seldom, if ever, accorded any guest of the nation, Count Johann Von Bernstorff, dismissed German ambassador, and his official family were escorted aboard the Scandinavian liner Frederick VIII today for the second stage of their long journey to Berlin.

The train from Washington bearing the party reached Hoboken at 5:50 and the party was transferred to the liner before 8 o'clock. Every precautionary measure that could possibly be devised to assure the safety and comfort of the department Germans was taken by the small army of government secret service men, augmented by scores of Hoboken police and members of Collector Malone's neutrality squad.

The departure of the Frederick VIII may be delayed until late this afternoon. She was originally scheduled to sail at 2 p. m., but officials declared that the unusually heavy cargo could not be loaded within that time.

Around the big liner played a patrol of police boats.

Before Count and Countess Von Bernstorff had been aboard the steamer an hour one crank attempted to board the vessel and was seized by secret service operatives and locked up.

"I am a cousin of Crown Prince Wilhelm and I have a note to be delivered to Count Von Bernstorff," declared the man.

BROTHER OF C. V. DUPONT OF TWIN CITIES WAS RIDING ON STREET CAR STRUCK BY A SOUTHERN RY. ENGINE.

TAXICAB ALSO SPLINTERED

WATCHMAN ON DUTY AT THE SIGNAL TOWER ARRESTED ON TECHNICAL CHARGE OF MAN-SLAUGHTER.

Benjamin Dupont, who was painfully injured Tuesday morning at Louisville, Ky., when a Southern Railway engine backed into a street car and jitney bus, is resting well today, according to advices received here by his brother, C. V. Dupont. The accident cost the lives of four persons and the injury of thirty-one, according to a news story appearing in the Louisville Courier-Journal, which carries the following notation in its list of injured:

Benjamin Dupont, 4225 West Broadway, roundhouse foreman, L. & N. railroad, three right ribs fractured and cuts about head and body. Taken to city hospital.

Regarding the accident, the Courier-Journal says:

Four persons were killed and thirty-one were seriously injured, several of them probably fatally, at about 6 o'clock last night when a Southern engine on the K. & I. tracks at Thirtieth street and Broadway crashed into a westbound Broadway car, loaded with persons returning from work or shopping. A jitney bus, owned and driven by Thomas W. Quarles, and containing several passengers, was wrecked at the same time. The jitney was being driven alongside the street car when the crash came.

An investigation of the wreck immediately was begun by Chief of Police Lindsey, and Acting Coroner Kammerer and shortly before midnight, after talking with the men, Col. Lindsey ordered the arrest, on technical charges of manslaughter, of Joseph Mattingly, 3417 West Walnut street, watchman on duty in the tower where the wreck occurred, and H. T. Jefferies, engineer, and Paul Honaker, fireman of the engine which crashed into the car.

Car Reduced to Splinters. Southern engine No. 74, in charge of H. T. Jefferies, engineer, and Paul Honaker, fireman, was coming north on the tracks just south of Broadway and crashed amidships into the street car. The street car was knocked more than 100 feet, rent in twain and reduced to a mass of twisted and splintered iron and wood and broken glass. The passengers were knocked clear of the debris or buried beneath it.

Running alongside of the car was the jitney bus of Thomas W. Quarles, who lives at 655 South Thirty-fourth street, and in his machine were J. J. Hancock, attorney, and George Miner and two women. The machine had stopped with the car and started also as it did. It was directly alongside of the car when the crash came. The automobile was thrown into the air and landed in the ditch on the west side of the tracks a few feet from Broadway. It was reduced to a pile of scrap and those beneath it were pinned and crushed.

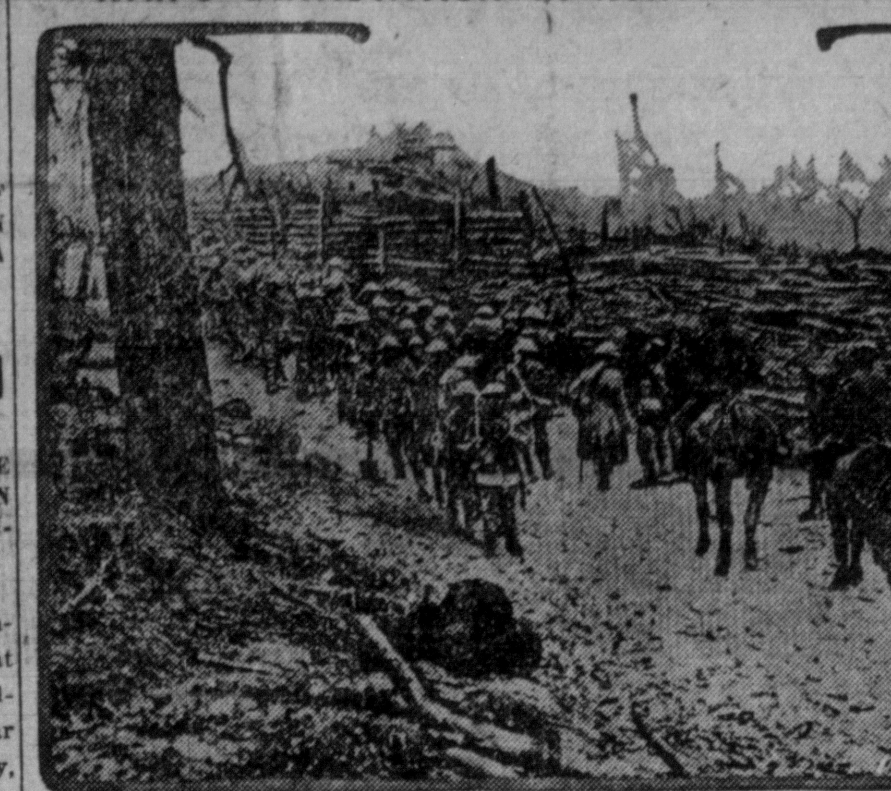

Dr. W. M. Dwyer, of 422 North Twenty-sixth street, was among the first physicians to arrive at the scene of the wreck. Dr. Dwyer was passing in an automobile and stopped when he saw the overturned street car and automobile. The first sign that a wreck occurred was a boy who ran into the street, wringing his hands. Dr. Dwyer ran to the scene and began to drag the injured from the wreck.

Bodies Lying Everywhere.

"It looked to me," Dr. Dwyer said, "like the wreck was in flames. I saw many of the injured lying caught under debris while steam from the engine (Continued on Page Four.)

El Paso, Feb. 14.—Urgent requests that American troops be sent into Mexico to pursue the bandits who carried off three Mormons were being made to the army authorities today by A. P. Later advices received here stated that the Mormons reported carried off were citizens of Mexico, but were on American soil when kidnapped.

CHINA TO BREAK WITH THE KAISER

MOMENTARY SEVERANCE OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS IS EXPECTED AT LONDON.

(International News Service.) London, Feb. 14.—A diplomatic break between China and Germany can be momentarily expected, according to the Peking correspondent to the Times.

The correspondent states that President Wilson's invitation to neutrals to break with the Kaiser caused intense excitement there. Under pressure from the Young China party, the older government leaders were prevailed upon to send what practically amounted to an ultimatum to Berlin, giving warning that unless there is a modification of the submarine warfare China will be compelled to sever diplomatic relations. A copy of the note was sent to Dr. Paul Reinsch, the American minister.

Prompt Measures Taken To Uphold Hands Of The Regularly Constituted Authorities Of The Island

SEIZE PRIVATE YACHT OF GOMEZ, CONSPIRATOR AND EX-PRESIDENT

Advices State That From One To Three Thousand Men Are Under Arms And Meeting With Successes.

(International News Service.)

Washington, Feb. 14.—Thoroughly aroused by information that the Cuban rebels are gaining the upper hand, the state department sent a second warning message to the Cuban people this afternoon.

The message unequivocally asserts that the revolutionists will get no comfort from this government and clearly indicates that action will be taken by the United States to support the duly constituted Cuban officials.

From a general view of the situation today it seems highly probable that the United States would soon have to intervene in the little island republic and set up the government again.

A detailed report of the conditions and activities of the revolutionists has been turned over to Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the army.

(International News Service.)

Mobile, Feb. 14.—It is reported here that the coast guard cutter Tallapoosa has been ordered to Cuban waters on account of the insurrection there.

Havana, Feb. 14.—Federal troops today seized the private yacht of former President Gomez, but no trace of the rebel leader was found. The yacht Juanita, was found on the south coast of Camaguey province.

Gomez is believed to be in the Santa Clara province directing the operations of his rebels who are thought to number anywhere from 1,000 to 3,000.

(International News Service.)

Havana, Feb. 14.—A report reached Havana this afternoon that General Baldomero Acosta, one of the leaders in the revolution against the government, has been killed in a battle between his forces and the government troops. The engagement took place about forty miles from Havana. The rebels were dispersed. General Gomez, former president, and declared to be one of the leaders, is fleeing to Venezuela, according to one report here this afternoon.

A Sail! Kaiser To Keep U-Boats Off Convoyed Vessels

(International News Service.)

Amsterdam, Feb. 14.—German submarines will not attack neutral war vessels acting as convoy, but such vessels enter the submarine zone at "their own risk."

This statement has been widely published in German newspapers, copies of which reached here today. The authority for the statement is not given, but it is obvious that it has been printed with government consent, if not actually given out by the government.

Neutral merchant vessels, whether convoyed or not, are subject to all the risks of an intensified submarine warfare, the article concludes.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Every preliminary whip and spur was brought into play by senate leaders today in a desperate effort to clean up the legislative program before adjournment on March 4, less than three weeks off.

The senate went into session at 10 o'clock, an hour earlier than usual, and leaders threatened to keep the upper house working until midnight every night unless better speed was promptly shown.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The rescue of Americans detained in Germany despite earlier promises of their release, and nearly a thousand refugees marooned in Asia Minor of whose condition the state department is in absolute ignorance, was the absorbing problem of the state department today.

Every possible means to learn their status is being employed, and it is not denied that the situation is fraught with the most serious possibilities.

LETTERS APPEAL FOR PAROLE FOR EX-JUSTICE T. J. NEWSOM

Judge Wert Writes Slayer Of Hatchett Only Man Convicted In His Court He Believed Absolutely Innocent

Montgomery, Ala. Feb. 14.—(Special)—T. J. Newsom, former justice of the peace of Morgan county, who is serving a sentence of ten years in the penitentiary at Wetumpka for the killing of C. E. Hatchett, newspaper dealer at Decatur, appealed to the state board of pardons Tuesday to recommend to the governor his release on parole. No one appeared in person to represent Newsom but a large number of letters and petitions from citizens of Morgan county and other counties where Newsom was known, were filed with the board.

Many of the letters represented that public sentiment rather than the evidence convicted Newsom and maintained that had not the state of the public mind been such the jury would not have brought in a verdict of guilty. Among those suggesting a parole were Judge Thomas W. Wert, who sat in the trial; Sheriff J. A. Forman of Morgan county, and J. L. Draper, deputy of Sheriff Forman at the time of trial.

In the record was a letter from Judge Wert to Newsom in which Judge Wert said: "I have served as a trial judge nearly ten years and you are the only man whom I have even seen convicted that I thought absolutely innocent. It is my opinion that you were convicted wholly because of public sentiment and I trust you may receive a pardon and I shall gladly do anything I can for you."

Newsom's case was affirmed by the court of appeals during the latter part of 1916. He remained in the Morgan county jail about two years following the killing.

THE EDITOR ADVISES HIMSELF.

Inasmuch as editors generally take upon themselves the task of instructing everybody else and advising them we think it would be a good idea for us to advise ourselves a little. This advice is especially appropriate at this time of the year when the cost of everything from ink to erasers has gone up in price except the average newspaper.

While it may not be interesting to you there are papers in New York which will pay $680,000 more for white paper this year than they did last year, and while our bill is not quite as much, it is proportionately larger than theirs, when based upon circulation. We don't care to lose a single subscriber, but in this talk to ourselves we are going to advise us to stop sending the paper to those who don't want it had enough to pay for it.

As we always talk about the way nobody takes our advice, this time we are going to urge it upon ourselves to take our advice. We face the facts and not promises. We want you to read the paper regularly, but you must not let your paper stay behind. Pay up for a year, help us to get the increased expenditures and we will give you a better paper.—Alabama Courier.

FAME STINGS.

Doris Lester says of Fame, "What appeared to be a beautiful moth, I chased across the fields. Breathless and with beating heart I ran, stumbling upon the sharp rocks, tearing my way through the underbrush, slipping often into the mire—but never losing sight of the fiery colored creature, elusive and beautiful. Then, in my naked hand I caught it—it stung."

What a world of thought is contained in that. How true it is to many lives, but how true particularly to one who sought fame and having gotten it, prayed to Divine Providence that it might be taken away—Robert Ingersoll. Those who have read Ingersoll's works must wonder how a man blessed with his intelligence could have cursed the world with his banners of infidelity as he did. Many of his works, notably the oration he delivered at the funeral of his brother, will stand as masterpieces of English literature.

He gined fame, much of it. There was a time when the name of Robert Ingersoll was familiar in practically every household in America, his reputation was world-wide.

But when he came to die, this same fame was at his death-bed to haunt him and make his final hours on earth as bad as the stinking of his books, his works that he had cherished and spread broadcast, were his companions and his tortured brain, at last realizing the evil his teaching, that there was no God—had accomplished, cried out in agony against this thing called Fame.

"I would to God I could recall everything I have ever written," he prayed.

FLINT CREEK'S OPPORTUNITY.

In all seriousness—it would be impossible to treat so serious a matter loosely—the Daily suggests that Flint creek "rise" to the occasion and put in its bid for the $20,000,000 government nitrate plant. Lock 17 on the Warrior River is bidding for this gigantic development. It is being backed by the Birmingham Civic association and the Birmingham Ledger is its prophet. Washington news dispatches go so far as to hint that the locating board may even "investigate" the availability of the site. Far be it from the Daily to in any way imperil the chances of Muscle Shoals by suggesting a new rival. At the same time, if there is to be a junketing trip and much entertaining, why not let Flint creek come in for its share of the publicity and justification? Flint creek has one advantage over the Warrior—it contains even less water!

It is to be hoped that the Kaiser ask "Gott" to assume any of the responsibility for starving the Bel-

AMUSEMENTS

"SEPTEMBER MORN."

When "September Morn," the big dancing festival offering now enjoying unprecedented popularity, is presented by LeComte and Flesher, at the Masonic Theatre, Tuesday night, Feb. 20, there will be seen the most perfectly trained chorus that ever embellished a musical comedy. During the one hundred and fifty performances of "September Morn" in Chicago, this clever aggregation of girls proved an irresistible box office attraction, not only from the fact of their more than usual personal charms, but also from the decidedly novel dancing numbers in which they were engaged under the careful training of Virgil Bennett, who has no equal in the exploitation of a chorus. There are many song hits to be heard in "September Morn," among them the one based on the title "September Morn," a gem that has not been equalled for popularity in the past decade. The other song delights include, "When a Little Boy Loves a Little Girl," "In Parade," "A Spare Rib From the Butcher Shop of Life," "Where is the Pleasure of Wine and Song—If the Woman is Not There?" "The Sunshine Girl," "Beautiful Dreams I'm Dreaming," and a score of others.

Big Play of Dual Personality at the Masonic Friday, Feb. 16th.

"Are Passions Inherited?" That is the title of the big film feature that will be shown, and in it lies an element of interest that is bound to cause a great deal of discussion.

This picture takes in hand, in a romantic way, a subject that has placed the world's savants at loggerheads, but the delicate question is handled with rare diplomacy. The remarkably absorbing theme makes necessary a feat of acting never before attempted by a woman. This is the work of Dorotea Farley, who plays the lead. It is that of a girl with two separate and distinct personalities, each violently extreme in difference. At times she is a gentle, lovable person, but at others she is a depraved, immoral creature—yet both beings are logical and according to actual cases of medical record. The nearest approach to such a human condition was in Belasco's "Case of Becky," wherein Frances Starr played two roles, but in that play hypnotism was the factor that induced the violent state of the subject's mind. "Are Passions Inherited?" however, differs from that play because it is backed by more logical and authentic human experience. While it is also extremely theatrical in effect, it is anything but theatrical in its material; for the forces that struggle for mastery within the fibre of Mazie Williams, as played by Miss Farley, are nature's own forces. The evil within her is a born tendency, and the good within her is likewise born. One is on her father's side and the other her mother's. The influences she comes in contact with bring out first one and then the other side of her, with startling results. To have given so successful a portrayal of so difficult a role was a task worthy indeed of a Mansfield or an Irving among the men of the stage, but motion picture artists who find no terrors in any part. That this part should be interpreted by a girl in her early twenties is as much a tribute to film art as to Miss Farley's abilities.

U. S. WILL INSIST ON QUICK RELEASE

complicating features of the situation is the silence of the Spanish minister at Berlin who has taken over American affairs. He has not been heard from since Feb. 12.

(International News Service.)

Washington, Feb. 14.—Release of the Yarrowdale prisoners is the immediate proposition occupying the attention of the United States in the new German controversy.

Officials made it plain today that the latest inquiry dealing with their status means far more than appears on the surface. The United States will insist that they be released. It is declared in official quarters that detention is "an unfriendly act." Pending an answer to the inquiry as to their status sent forward through the Swiss minister, officials declined to discuss the plans that have been evolved about them.

Reports of a division among members of the cabinet as to the question of arming American vessels were cleared up today. It was stated that the entire cabinet accepted as a common right that American vessels were entitled to arm for defense.

Meanwhile officials today were watching the war zone very closely, as American vessels are approaching it. It can be asserted upon the highest authority that President Wilson will go before congress and outline his next step the moment that a vessel is sunk in defiance of international law. The state department again is pressing Ambassador Penfield at Vienna as to his status. There has been no word from him since she break with Germany and no word has come from Ambassador Elkus at Constantinople.

It developed today that complete investigation of all the circumstances surrounding the purported offer of Germany to re-open the submarine situation with the United States is in progress. That certain newspaper and diplomatic sources were used in that connection now is certain. Berlin is understood to have repudiated the entire matter and to have asserted that if an offer was made it was without the sanction of the imperial government.

and Tuscumbia are very hopeful yet that the Shoals will be selected," he said. "They continue to work hard for the plant. It now looks like the selection will be delayed somewhat because of the 'aspirations' that will be made by government officials, but obstacles must be expected to be encountered."

"Have you seen the brief prepared by the Tennessee River Improvement Association in behalf of the Shoals?" he parried a Daily reporter's question with a counter one. "It is one of the most interesting booklets I ever saw, very comprehensive and giving all of the arguments in favor of the Shoals. It has been placed in the hands of representatives, senators and other federal officials and many copies sent broadcast through the nation. It understands more will be printed, if the necessary money is given for the purpose."

"The briefs cost nearly $8 each and were prepared after exhaustive study by persons interested in the development of the Tennessee river."

Dr. Dwyer ran to a telephone and began summoning aid. He assisted two of the injured men to walk to the office of the brewing company, where he gave them first aid. Later he called a taxicab and removed them to their homes.

Dr. J. E. Helms, 2015 West Broadway, was called to the scene by telephone and assisted in removing the injured from the wreck. Dr. Helms remained in the brewing company office where he attended three of the injured.

Within less time than it takes to tell it the main office of the brewing company was converted into an improvised hospital, where the wounded were removed as soon as they were taken from the wreck. More than a dozen men were stretched on straw on the office floor at one time. The less seriously hurt were given medical attention there. Some of the wounded also were removed to a nearby grocery store to await the arrival of taxicabs, police automobiles, ambulances and private machines which were offered by their owners.

AUXILIARY PLANT ONLY SOUGHT ON WARRIOR RIVER

THOS. L. CANNON EXPLAINS THE ACTIVITY OF CERTAIN ELEMENT IN BIRMINGHAM.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 14.—"The Birmingham Civic Association is not advocating the location of the $20,000,000 nitrate plant at Lock 17, nor has it ever done so," declared T. L. Cannon, secretary of the association. "When the statement was made officially in Washington that it was possible that smaller auxiliary plants would be built as units to augment the production of nitrate, the feasibility of Lock 17, for such use at once suggested itself, and we are diligently urging the site for such purpose."

The above statement from Secretary Cannon followed a challenge from the floor in which some member declared that many people had formed the conclusion the Birmingham business men were urging Lock 17 as the location of the principal plant. It was pointed out that such reports would undoubtedly prove injurious to the new organization, in view of the fact that all of Alabama, and the South as a unit, had been urging with persistence the location of the plant at Muscle Shoals. "We must not become divided on this matter," was the sentiment of the meeting Monday night.

"It is well understood that there is not sufficient power at Lock 17 for the principal plant, and that settles the argument in the first place," said Secretary Cannon. "Even if there was ample power there, we could not afford to make any attempt to discount the work that has been done in favor of the Muscle Shoals."

Albany Bowlers Down Strong Decatur Team

A large crowd enjoyed the weekly contest last night at the Dixie Bowling Parlors at 505 Second avenue, the Albany team of bowlers defeating the Decatur team by a good score. The players for Albany were: Messrs. Miller, Sewell, Clark, Tarpley, McBride and Schaubert. The Decatur team was composed of Messrs. Giles, Coffee, Johnson, Pointer, Long and Hill.

E. E. McBride's score was 191, the highest of the evening and he was awarded a ticket for twenty free games.

Box ball is proving a popular amusement in Albany and Decatur, two parlors being maintained here, one on Second avenue and the other at 405 Bank street.
